change, success will require broad collaboration between all levels of government and all sectors of society.

Youth Climate Champion (YCC)

The Youth Climate Champion (YCC) is the first position within the higher COP leadership to ensure the meaningful participation and representation of youth in international climate decision-making and mobilize substantive youth input and outcomes from the COP and UNFCCC processes.

The Youth Climate Champion aims to amplify the climate action and influence of young people everywhere through four pillars collectively known as PAVE. Enhance participation of youth within the Presidency and UNFCCC process, and increase access to the COP, especially for youth from Least Developed Countries and Small Island States

YOUNGO

YOUNGO is the official children and youth constituency of the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC). YOUNGO is a vibrant, global network of children and youth activists (up to 35 years) as well as youth NGOs, who contribute to shaping the intergovernmental climate change policies and strive to empower youth to formally bring their voices to the UNFCCC processes.

What is the Conference of Parties (COP)?

The COP is the supreme decision-making body of the Convention. All States that are Parties to the Convention are represented at the COP, at which they review the implementation of the Convention and any other legal instruments that the COP adopts and take decisions necessary to promote the effective implementation of the Convention, including institutional and administrative arrangements.

Background on the COP

The United Nations Climate Change Conference is yearly conferences held in the framework of the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC). it serve as the formal meeting of the UNFCCC parties – the Conference of the Parties (COP) – to assess progress in dealing with climate change. From 2011 to 2015 the meetings were used to negotiate the Paris Agreement as part of the Durban platform, which created a general path towards climate action.

Action for Climate Empowerment (ACE) is a term adopted by the UN Framework Convention on Climate Change to denote work under Article 6 of the convention and Article 12 of Paris Agreement. The Over-arching goal of ACE is to empower all members of society to engage in climate action, through the Six ACE elements- climate change education and public awareness, training, public participation, public access to information, and international cooperation on these issues.

What is ACE?

Action for Climate Empowerment (ACE) is a term adopted by the UN Framework Convention on Climate Change to denote work under Article 6 of the convention and Article 12 of Paris Agreement.

The Over-arching goal of ACE is to empower all members of society to engage in climate action, through the Six ACE elements- climate change education and public awareness, training, public participation, public access to information, and international cooperation on these issues.

Why ACE matters?

Implementation of all six ACE elements is crucial to the global response to climate change. Everyone, including and perhaps especially the young, must understand and participate in the transition to a low-emission, climate-resilient world.
Sustainable lifestyle, sustainable patterns of consumption and production are fundamental to reducing greenhouse emission and enhancing resilience to the inevitable effects of climate
